Dear Alexander,

I have been thankful to you during many years. Soon it will be 10 years since a book "What to do when it's not as you want it to be" came to my attention (today this book is battered and wrapped in plastic but still helping to a lot of people).

I thank God and wish you well-being and to be happy.

This book saved me from the catastrophe. However, I would prefer not to use such word mindlessly any more. Everything is so fantastic now that I can not describe it. I have almost all your books in paperback and, of course, I have been eagerly reading the works of other writers. My consciousness has turned upside down. There were miracles that have happened in my life. But ten years ago my life was falling apart, and suddenly an invisible support has appeared. It was so strong that everything has become restored powerfully and steadily in my life. Every new day is better than the previous one. I will be 50 this year and I feel better than when I was 30.

Thank you.
